

Atomic Bomb Secret Won't Be Shared, Says Truman

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Tiptonville, Tenn., Oct. 9 (AP)—The world had notice today from the lips of President Truman himself that the secret of the atomic bomb will NOT be shared with other nations.

The President set the record straight at an unprecedented press conference in the heart of the Reel Foot Lake Hunting and Fishing Preserve in which he also:

1. Made it clear that neither Russia nor any other Ally had asked for the engineering know-how that led to the perfection of the bomb.

Didn't Fail at London

2. Designated James F. Byrnes, Secretary of State, to initiate discussions with Great Britain and Canada, partners in the fateful discovery, looking to the outlawing of its use.

3. Scoffed at reports the London meeting of the Foreign Ministers of United States, China, Russia, Great Britain and France was a failure.

4. Declared that there never has been a clash of American and Russian interests and expressed the hope there never would be.

5. Expressed concern that Russia has been badly misrepresented in this country as we have been in Russia and attributed misunderstanding to differences in languages and difficulties in translation.

Confident About Strikes

6. Expressed confidence that management and labor will adjust difficulties which have led to reconversion-retarding strikes—difficulties which he laid in large measure to a natural let-down similar to those that have followed every war in history.

These momentous pronouncements came unexpectedly from a wholly unexpected news conference last night at Mrs. T. O. Morris' private lodge at Tiptonville, where reporters had been invited by the President for what was supposed to have been an off-the-record gabfest.

Charles G. Ross, presidential secretary, who apparently had shared the reporters' belief, seemed to be surprised himself when the President decided to go on the record.

Looked a Bit Hurt

The President, outwardly unaware that he had said anything that would cause much of a commotion, invited reporters to stay around for a while. He looked a bit hurt when they made a mad rush from the screened porch of his lodge with little ceremony.

They hopped into waiting automobiles and dashed 29 miles to Union City, nearest telegraphic filing point of consequence, to send their stories.

Mr. Truman began his press conference by saying, in response to a question, that he has no intention of sharing the engineering and industrial know-how, the only real secret of the bomb, with any Ally.

Russia Misrepresented

He reemphasized this repeatedly under questioning, then pointed out that no Ally had asked for this knowledge.

Great Britain and Canada, he said, share the knowledge, and while he has not discussed his decision with them with reference to the secret, he felt sure they would agree with it.

At the same time, he made it clear that he felt Russia has been as badly misrepresented in this country as this country has been in Russia.

American and Russian intentions, he said, do not clash at all.

They never have, he said, and he stressed his hope they never would.

All nations, the President said, have access to the scientific knowledge that led to the development of the atomic bomb, but only the United States, with its resources in money, men and plant capacity, was in a position to develop it.

Vandals Level Hotels, Homes In Bali When Japs Arrive

By VERN HAUGLAND
Koeta Beach, Sanoer, Bali, Oct. 4 (Delayed) (AP)—Bali's two best-known beach hotels and American owned residences, once the show place of this island, have disappeared.

Vandals who started making off with the furnishings the day the Japanese landed in 1942, within a week had completely dismantled buildings, even torn up foundations, removed flower-beds and filled in wells.

Europeans who remained on Bali told their first white visitors in four years, however, they had been well treated by both the natives and the Japanese.

I visited 66-year-old Belgian painter Adrian Jean le Mayeur de Merpres at his attractive art-filled Keta Beach home near Sanoer, and found him in good health utterly content to remain in Bali with his beautiful 33-year-old Balinese dancer wife.

At a mountain retreat near Kintaman, 60 miles inland, was Karl Strasser, Austrian artist, novelist, playwright and world-traveller, and

NEW TEACHER ELECTED FOR HIGH SCHOOL

The Gettysburg school board at its October meeting Monday evening accepted the resignation of Miss C. Pague Harglerode as girls' physical education instructor at Gettysburg high school and elected Miss Doris Neithammer, Aldan, Pa., a West Chester State Teachers' college graduate, as her successor.

Miss Harglerode, who said in her letter of resignation that she was giving up her position because of illness, was starting her second year as a member of the high school faculty here. She taught last on September 27. Her successor is expected to report for duty next Monday.

The board authorized Superintendent L. C. Keefeauver to make the necessary arrangements for instruction in the home for a fourth grade pupil who is confined to bed by rheumatic fever. The child will receive four hours of instruction weekly for which a teacher will be paid $2 per hour with the state repaying the local school district for a large part of that expense. This is the first case in Gettysburg to receive "home-bound instruction" under provisions of the state school code.

Place Flood Lights

The property committee chairman, Ralph Z. Oyler, presented his monthly report and his committee was directed to act on a suggestion of the board that flood lights be placed at each end of the high school building.

Superintendent Keefeauver reported that the position of art supervisor here is being filled for the first half of the year by Mrs. Richard Wolfe. The board received an invitation from Marjory C. Little, Waynesboro superintendent of schools, to be his guests at the Gettysburg-Waynesboro game there Friday evening.

The purchase of a reconversion bass horn for use in the Lincoln school orchestra directed by Richard B. Shade, music supervisor, was authorized.

The monthly report of the First National bank, school district treasurer, showed a balance of $59,419 in the general fund after tax receipts of $33,711 and a state appropriation of $14,000 had been received. Expenses during the last month totaled $15,511. The cafeteria report showed $65.92 profit in September from receipts that totaled $550.23.

President Charles S. Black, Directors M. P. Hartzell, Paul M. Rohrbough, Ralph Z. Oyler, A. E. Hutchison and Charles M. Sheely attended with Superintendent Keefeauver also present.

Local Dentists To Attend District Meet

The annual meeting of the Fifth District Dental Society will be held Thursday in the Academy of Medicine at Harrisburg with a number of Gettysburg and Adams county dentists in attendance.

Principal speaker listed for the meeting is Dr. Harold Hillenbrand, editor of the Journal of the American Dental Association. His topic will be "Dentistry for All the People." He will discuss current social trends and pending legislation related to the dental profession.

SAILOR PROMOTED

Allen M. Sprinkle, USN, stationed at Kaganan airfield, Saipan Island, was advanced from petty officer second class to petty officer first class, effective October 1. Mr. Sprinkle is a ship's cook in the commissary branch. Prior to his induction into the navy in September, 1943, he was employed as chef at the Hotel Gettysburg.

Complete Plans For Concert Drive

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the Gettysburg Concert association's drive for members for the forthcoming series of concerts which will begin Monday morning and continue through Saturday, October 20.

The annual dinner-meeting of the workers, totaling approximately 75, will be held Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock in the Hotel Gettysburg. Plans for the membership drive will be outlined to the workers.

On Saturday evening, at the conclusion of the campaign, the committee will select the artists that will appear in three concerts here during the coming winter.

TELLS CLUB OF TREATMENT AS WAR PRISONER

German soldiers had high morale and were "first class fighters," Major John C. Hollinger, new professor of military science and tactics at Gettysburg college, told members of the Gettysburg Rotary club at their weekly dinner meeting Monday evening at the YWCA building.

The German soldiers were products of a thorough military system and rank high with the soldiers of any nation, the officer said. Major Hollinger served with the 106th Division and was among those captured by the Nazis last December 19 in the "Belgian bulge."

Unit Cut Off

The German counter-thrust and the subsequent capture of a large number of Americans in that sector was an experience which will be long remembered, the speaker said. In the early stage of that attack, the unit with which the Gettysburg officer served was cut off completely without communication or supplies for three days. Major Hollinger was with the regimental motor column at the time of the German drive and the entire column of 212 motor vehicles was captured.

The drive apparently was a last show of power, Major Hollinger said and was designed to bring peace in place of the unconditional surrender demanded by the Allied powers.

The officer told of the manner in which the officers and men were sent to the interior of Germany on foot or crowded 50 to 60 in box cars. He was sent to a camp in Poland but as the Russians started their drive from the east, the Germans moved their prisoners westward marching 16 to 20 miles a day.

He told of liberation by the Russians on April 22 and declared that the manner in which American and British officers restored order in the wild confusion which accompanied the release of European nationals from prison is a tribute to the self-control and ability of those officers.

R. C. Parrels Lost

Red Cross parcels which were routed through Geneva arrived at the prisons at irregular intervals and it was Major Hollinger's belief that much of the Red Cross food designated for Allied prisoners was diverted to their own use by the Germans.

FLIER TALKS TO LIONS CLUB

Lt. William Hindman, a Gettysburg college student and veteran of duty as a navigator with the 8th Air Force, was the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Lions club at the Methodist church.

The former Air Force lieutenant who had trained as a bombardier on a B-17 but later was assigned as a navigator, told of the training given the Air Force men and officers in this country. The crossing to Ireland by air was "not thrilling," he said. It was made at 11,000 feet between cloud layers which blocked off their view both of the sky and the ocean.

He described briefly, missions he made over France and Germany, on some of which his ship was damaged, and some crew members were wounded. Several times his ship was forced to make emergency landings on the way back to England after being shot up over the target.

The club, during a brief business session, voted to extend its scouting activities to include sponsorship, likely in cooperation with the Rotary club, of a revived troop of colored Boy Scouts in Gettysburg. The club now is a joint sponsor of Troop 77 with the Rotarians.

Next week the Lions will make their annual trip to Hoffman orphanage. The clubmen will take their wives along, it was decided Monday evening.

Thirty-seven Lions and guests were present with President Glenn L. Bream presiding.

YW DIRECTORS HOLD MEETING; NAME CHAIRMEN

Two committee chairmen were appointed; reports on activities were received and a new ruling on uses for which the association building is available was adopted at the October meeting of the board of directors of the Gettysburg YWCA Monday afternoon. The president, Mrs. A. R. Wentz, presided with 11 directors in attendance.

Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler was appointed as the new finance chairman and Mrs. Richard A. Brown, acting secretary for the meeting, was made chairman of the expansion committee.

This rule was adopted by the board and ordered to be posted in the building: "The YWCA building is to be used only for the following purposes outside of regular organizational activities—for resting for short periods; for waiting for cars, buses or trains; for out-of-town pupils as a waiting place before and after school.

Ban On Loitering

"Due to the restricted size of the building and the necessity of using the rooms for many activities, loitering cannot be permitted—meaning occupying a place in a room for a long period of time without evident purpose. This ruling must be kept enforced and we respectfully request your cooperation."

Mrs. John Kaitreider was added to the association's Rotary committee.

An extensive report was made on plans for Girl Reserve work during the coming year under the direction of Mrs. Fred G. Troxell, Girl Reserve chairman. She announced this list of advisers for the clubs which are to be formed: Rosea Armor, Miriam McCarney, Madeline Tee, Mary Lou Armor, Janet Sharrah, Miss Mumdis, Jean Nisely and Martha Elliott. She also announced the formation of a Girl Reserve advisory board which includes Mrs. Hugh C. McIlhenny, Mrs. Harold Reuning and Mrs. Justus Liesmann. The leaders will meet this evening at 6:30 o'clock at the "Y" building to plan for the year's work with the girls.

At Hanover Celebration

The personnel committee presented an "encouraging report" on its negotiations for a general secretary. Other organizational and committee reports were presented.

Mrs. Wentz reported that she and Mrs. Kaitreider and Mrs. Troxell had attended the 25th anniversary celebration held by the Hanover YWCA last Saturday.

The opening devotions at Monday's meeting were conducted by Mrs. G. W. Lefever on the theme "Christian Praying."

Conewago Deanery Council To Meet

Miss Marie Carbaugh, president of the Conewago Deanery Council of the National Council of Catholic Women, has announced that the quarterly Deanery meeting will be held at St. Mary's of the Immaculate Conception parish, in Fairfield, Sunday, October 21. The meeting was originally scheduled to take place on Sunday, October 14, but due to a regional meeting of the Holy Name Society in York on the same day, the Council meeting was postponed.

The Deanery Council is made up of the following parish councils: Bonneauville, Buchanan Valley, Conewago, Fairfield, Gettysburg, Littlestown, McSherrystown, New Oxford, Chambersburg and Waynesboro. Details of the program will be announced at a later date.

No Inquest Into Crash Fatality

Dr. C. G. Crist, county coroner, announced today that he has concluded his investigation of the accident in which Amos Bushey, York Springs, was fatally injured last Saturday afternoon and has decided that no inquest will be held.

Mr. Bushey died in the Warner hospital three hours after his car was struck as he drove onto the highway in front of his York Springs home. Five other persons received minor injuries.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Clair Bricker, York Springs, announce the birth of twins, a son and daughter, at the Warner hospital Monday evening.

C. P. Delphay Died A Natural Death

Charles Phylander Delphay, whose mysterious disappearance from his home near Aspers September 17, has been under continuous state police investigation since that time, died of coronary thrombosis, Dr. C. G. Crist, county coroner, announced this morning.

That information was secured by Dr. C. H. Johnson, who conducted an autopsy on Delphay's decomposed body which was found in Possum creek two miles from Biglerville 10 days after his disappearance. Sections of the heart were submitted to microscopic and other examinations which disclosed the cause of death, Doctor Crist said.

Thorough search of the Delphay home and other phases of the police investigation have failed to indicate anything that would suggest a death by violence.

NEW OXFORD'S RATION BOARD CLOSING OCT. 19

The New Oxford War Price and Rationing Board office will close on October 19 when its work will be consolidated with that of the rationing board office at Gettysburg. It was announced today.

The closing of the New Oxford board office is a part of the nationwide consolidation of boards being carried out by the OPA. It was explained. In the Harrisburg district, the number of boards is being reduced from 24 to 10 offices, each located in the county seat. The Hanover office also is being eliminated and its work assigned to York.

The consolidation has been made possible by the ending of a number of ration controls. Reduction in staffs began soon after V-J Day.

Staff Coming Here

The New Oxford staff will not be brought to Gettysburg. One member recently was transferred to the Hanover office and the others have resigned to accept other positions. Only two persons serve in the New Oxford office now and they have accepted other positions to which they will go when the ration board office closes.

When rationing began early in 1942 it was handled out of Gettysburg for the entire county but as the number of rationed commodities increased it was found necessary to establish the New Oxford office.

Chairman Richard L. Livingston, of New Oxford, announced that rationing application forms will be available at sites to be announced at a later date and as soon as the sites can be selected. Forms can be secured at any time by writing to the Gettysburg office.

The filled out forms should be mailed to the Gettysburg board to be acted upon and ration currency will be mailed directly to the applicant without delay.

Although the New Oxford board is closing its doors, Chairman Livingston called upon the price panel members and assistants to stay with the program and "help carry out our responsibility to the people of this community for vigorous control of prices at retail. Without careful control, prices will surely rise."

Mr. Livingston stated "that I want to express my grateful thanks for the loyalty and duty of both volunteers and paid employees of the board. They worked at hard and unfamiliar tasks to bring to our servicemen, war workers and to everyone of us a fair share of goods we needed at prices we could afford to pay."

$300 CLEARED FOR POLIO FUND

Approximately $300 was netted from the stage production "Rip Van Winkle" for the polio fund of the Women's Club of Gettysburg. It was announced today.

The play, staged Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Majestic theatre, was witnessed by an overflow audience that filled every seat and spilled out into the aisles and stairs of the balcony.

An appeal was made to the youngsters, prior to the opening of the play to share their seat with other school children in order that all might be admitted to the theatre. It was the largest crowd to witness a Clare Tree Major production here and the proceeds exceeded any previous benefit for the polio fund.

The club now has more than $700 in its infantile paralysis fund. The committee in charge of arrangements expressed its thanks and appreciation to the large number of patrons, the school teachers who assisted in the sale of student tickets, the theatre management, ushers and all others who "assisted in any way to make this play the tremendous success that it was."

Warner brothers, through Manager Sydney J. Poppay, donated the theatre and the ushers served without charge.

SAYS POST-WAR PLANNING IS UP TO COMMUNITIES

"Post-war employment can be solved at local levels if Pennsylvania communities will appraise their assets and potential possibilities and develop them to the fullest extent possible," business and civic leaders from seven counties in the south-central Pennsylvania district were told by Ray Smith, deputy secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce, at a meeting at the state capital Monday evening.

Henry Garvin, president of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce, headed a delegation that represented Adams county at the meeting.

The commerce executive told of the facilities of his department that are at the disposal of local communities to assist in the development of their resources. He told of the industrial division of the department and its program for expansion of the industrial interests of the state as a means of meeting the post-war employment problem.

Tourist Revenue

J. Herbert Walker, director of the travel and vacation section of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce, disclosed the value of tourist and vacation travel to the state as being in excess of $415,000 annually.

"Travel is a great Pennsylvania industry," Mr. Walker declared. "We do a bigger travel business than Florida or Maine and as a matter of fact we rank fifth among all states as a travel objective."

Mr. Walker told of the facilities of the department for the distribution of literature of local communities as a supplement to the various pieces of literature published and distributed by the state under its travel promotion program.

The chairman pointed out that if counties and communities will combine the interest and effort of all local organizations that are available and adopt programs to further the business of their areas, private enterprise will meet the challenge and the problems of the postwar period "without the artificial stimulus of government work projects."

Practical Approach

"This sort of program is the direct and practical approach to the solution of our future economic problem. It can best be met by local levels but it cannot be expected that

Pierre Laval Is Condemned To Death By French Court

Paris, Oct. 9 (AP)—Pierre Laval was condemned to death tonight for intelligence with the enemy and attacking the security of France.

Laval was stripped of all citizenship rights and his property was confiscated.

It took the jury only 62 minutes to decide the trial which the white-tied defendant had called a "judicial crime."

The former Vichy chief of government, who before the war was three times premier of France, had boycotted the trial after the opening days and had been confined to a dungeon beneath the palace of justice.

A jury of 12 members of parliament and 12 from the resistance movement took little time to seal the doom of the man accused of treason. The same court during the summer condemned former Marshal Petain, Laval's superior in the Vichy regime, but General De Gaulle com-

Hess Joins His Mates In Jail

Frankfurt, Oct. 9 (AP)—Rudolf Hess was among his former Nazi cohorts today for the first time in four years, but they were unaware of it.

Flown from Britain by plane to Nurnberg, he was whisked to a gloomy cell in the jail which houses Reichsmarshal Hermann Goerring, former Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and other Nazi leaders awaiting trial as war criminals. None of the other prisoners saw the arrival of the one-time deputy fuhrer. They probably will not know of his arrival until some of them get a glimpse of him in the exercise yard.

COUNTY NATIVE IS KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY CAR

Harry Ivan Shindidecker, 51, of Waynesboro, was struck by a car and killed Friday night about 8:45 o'clock near the Middleburg Airport, Md.

Identification was made by Abram Gearhart, of Shady Grove, and Maurice Eigenbrode, Waynesboro R. 4, two brothers-in-law, Sunday night, shortly after Detective Wayne Sellman had photographed the body. Pictures were to be made and mailed to nearby police departments.

Shindidecker was struck by the automobile driven by J. W. Davison, Greencastle merchant.

He was coming home from Hagertown, and was removed to the hospital, but died enroute.

Davison told State Trooper Charles Mades of the Maryland State Police that the pedestrian staggered into the middle of the highway into the path of his car.

Born In Fairfield

Born at Fairfield, the son of David and Annie (King) Shindidecker, he lived his early life in Fairfield. For the past twenty years he lived in Waynesboro, where he was employed at the Waynesboro Nipple Works.

He was a member of the American Legion and had served in the first World War, for over a year. His brother, Lester, was killed in action in Italy, December 10, 1943.

Surviving are his mother, with whom he made his home, and three sisters, Mrs. Maurice Eigenbrode, Waynesboro R. 4; Mrs. Paul Grove, Mont Alto; and Mrs. Abram Gearhart, Shady Grove.

Funeral services this afternoon at 2:30 from the Grove funeral home, Waynesboro, in charge of the Rev. Bart E. Crites. Burial in Fairfield cemetery.

LABOR TROUBLE
KEEPS 425,000
OUT OF WORK

(By The Associated Press)

Labor disputes across the country keep about 425,000 workers away from their jobs, compared to record 1945 high of 550,000 last week.

Main disputes:

Coal—177,000 coal miners out of more than 675 pits in six states in 19th day of shutdowns.

Shipping—New York port, world's busiest, jammed with unmoved freight and ships in ninth day of dock strike.

Motion pictures — Striking movie workers, after second outbreak of violence in which scores were hurt, summoned back to picket lines.

Automotive—No major work stoppages in Detroit for first time in six weeks.

Lumber—Striking AFL lumber union presses to spread stoppages as 61,000 remain out third week.

Government Hopeful

(By The Associated Press)

The government went ahead today hopeful of success in ending its biggest postwar labor dispute, spreading soft coal strikes affecting some 177,000 workers from more than 675 mines.

Settlement of the 19-day-old coal shutdown in six states would have the nation's strike lines materially.

Current disputes across the country kept about 425,000 men and women away from their jobs, a decrease of more than 125,000 over last week's new 1945 high of 550,000.

The critical situation in the coal fields received the most attention from the government. Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach said "progress" had been made in conferences with John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president, and bituminous operators. As they met for the third time he appeared optimistic and seizure of the 675 idle mines was not believed imminent.

Lewis Refuses

The shutdown of additional coal mines—some 5,000 miners left their pits in Indiana yesterday—forced the closing of additional steel mills and resulted in mass layoff of workers. In Pittsburgh, the U. S. Steel company cut its operations to 51 per cent of capacity and said by the week-end a total of 18 of its blast furnaces and 58 open hearths would be closed in the Pittsburgh area.

The shutdowns, stemming from strikes by a union of foremen and supervisory employees in a dispute over collective bargaining, have forced 73,000 miners from pits in West Virginia; 37,000 in Pennsylvania; 26,500 in Kentucky; 8,000 in Tennessee; 8,000 in Ohio, and 5,000 in Indiana.

Lewis has refused to stop the shutdowns, contending that they were begun by local affiliates of the UMWA and the UMWA was not responsible. Recognition of the union was refused by the operators who said the foremen, as organized, were actually a part of mine management.

Dock Workers Still Out

There was no indication of settlement today of the strike of an estimated 35,000 to 60,000 New York dock workers as the world's busiest port was jammed with unmoved freight. Ships were unable to find room at already crowded piers, with more than 200 tied up and scores of others waiting in the harbor to dock.

An embargo was placed on all shipments of freight to New York for export. A spokesman for the AFL International Longshoremen's association said membership polls were to be held today and tomorrow on the possibility of return to work by Thursday. Union President Joseph P. Ryan previously had requested the workers to return.

There was a tense feeling in the Hollywood movie lots after an outbreak of violence in which 78 persons were hurt when nonstriking movie workers crossed ALF picket lines. The strikers were summoned back to picket line duty again today while 200 nonstrikers spent the night in Warner brothers' besieged studio in Burbank, Calif. About 350 to 400 others, however, went home and were due back to work today.

Dr. Cline To Speak
At Dinner For Men

Dr. Thomas L. Cline, president of the newly formed laymen's organization in this community, will be the speaker at a dinner meeting of the men of the Presbyterian church to be held Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock. Judge W. C. Sheely will preside.

The Ladies' Guild of the church will serve a turkey dinner.

Doctor Cline will tell of the purposes and plans of the inter-denominational laymen's group formed here this fall by representatives of all of the churches of the town.

Miss Betty Jane Wildasin, a student at the Pierce business school, Philadelphia, spent the week-end with her grandmother, Mrs. Charles Stevens, Liberty street.

James W. Fowler, Pittsburgh visited his aunt, Mrs. Kutz Moxley, here over the week-end and attended the memorial service for Pfc. Albert Stanton Sunday in the A.M.E. Zion church.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. Stoops have returned to their home in Harrisburg after spending the week-end with the latter's mother, Mrs. Blanche Dougherty, Carlisle street.

Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Kelly, Oak Ridge, spent Sunday in Newville where they attended the services celebrating the 150th anniversary of the founding of Zion Lutheran church. Dr. Kelly, who is a former pastor of the church, preached at the evening service. Following the service a reception was held for Dr. and Mrs. Kelly.

A regular meeting of the Queen of Peace Council of the PCBL was held Monday evening in the social rooms of St. Francis Xavier Catholic church. It was decided to hold a rummage sale November 9 and 10 in the former People's Cash store room on Baltimore street. Mrs. Annie Cunningham will be the chairman in charge. Following the meeting cards were played.

Chairmen for entertainment for the coming year were announced as follows: October, Mrs. Florence Yingst; November, Mrs. Annie Cunningham; December, Mrs. Anna Swisher; January, Mrs. Marie Small; February, Mrs. Caroline Groff; March, Mrs. Bertha Butt; April, Mrs. Thelma Zhea; May, Mrs. Emma Little; June, Mrs. Selena Menchey; July, Mrs. Marie Flynn; August, Mrs. Virginia Smith, and September, Mrs. Mary Eberhart.

Mrs. John B. Zinn, West Broadway, and daughter, Mrs. Raymond F. Sheely, West Lincoln avenue, and Mrs. Charles M. Sheely, Springs avenue, were visitors in Harrisburg Monday.

Mrs. Carl Sodon, Pittsburgh, is visiting friends in Gettysburg.

Mrs. Charles A. Williams entertained the members of the Monday Night Bridge club at her home on Hanover street. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Henry Kalbfleisch.

Members of the Business and Professional Women's club who can furnish transportation to the week-end house party are requested to announce it on the bulletin board at the Y.

Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Tilberg, West Lincoln avenue, have returned from a visit to Philadelphia where Dr. Tilberg transacted college business.

Dr. Raymond F. Sheely returned Monday evening from the Mayo clinic, Minneapolis, Minn., where for the last week he has made visiting rounds with the staff in the departments of internal medicine, surgery and arthritis. While at the clinic he was a guest of a member of the staff at the weekly clinic-pathological conference and staff meeting.

Miss Gladys Ecker, Gettysburg R. D., spent the week-end in Lemoyne as the guest of Miss Betty Sterling.

Over-the-Teacups met Monday evening with Mrs. J. T. Huddle, Carlisle street. The program was in charge of Mrs. Russell A. Campbell who reviewed the book "Tall Story and His Wife." The next meeting will be held in two weeks with Mrs. W. E. Tilberg, West Lincoln avenue, at which time Mrs. Frank Clutz will be in charge of the program.

Local Truck In Crash At York

A tractor-trailer owned by a Gettysburg company and operated by Kenneth Walker, New Oxford R. 2, narrowly missed seriously injuring the occupants of three automobiles as they waited the signal light change at the West Market street intersection of Highland avenue, York, Sunday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Officer Ralph Shultz, who appeared at the scene of the accident almost at the time it occurred, stated that but for the quick action of the driver of the tractor-trailer there might have been a very serious accident.

The operator of the truck told Officer Shultz that as he approached the intersection he applied his brakes but they failed to hold and he then pulled the emergency brake but he realized he could not stop in time, so he swerved the vehicle causing it to jack-knife, thus withholding a great deal of shock when he hit the first car in line.

The first car to be hit was operated by Clyde E. Bortner, Thomasville R. 1, which, from the impetus of the crash, was plunged into the rear of a Yellow cab operated by Raymond Wampler. The cab was then forced into the rear of a sedan operated by Phares R. Reeve, Hallam.

Leroy Winebrenner
Is Operated Upon

LeRoy H. Winebrenner, borough engineer, is "getting along nicely" at the Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn., where he was taken 10 days ago by Dr. Raymond F. Sheely. Doctor Sheely returned home Monday evening but Mr. Winebrenner expects to remain for three or four weeks.

He submitted to a minor operation soon after reaching the clinic and another operation is scheduled for some time this week.

Countian Involved
In Slight Accident

Two passenger cars collided at the crest of a camel-back bridge on the crest of a camel-back bridge on the Wayneboro-Ringgold road three miles east of Wayneboro at 5:30 p. m. Saturday, state police said, causing damage estimated at $15 to each car.

Pvt. Sim C. Cronrath reported that Ivan D. Carbaugh, 42, Fairfield, R. 1, was traveling north, and Samuel Lawrence Nekirk, 35, Smithburg, Md., R. 2, was traveling south when the cars met head-on on the bridge, which is about ten feet in width.

Receives Letter From
Son After 8 Months

Mrs. Ruth Shindldecker, Orrtanna R. 1, recently received her first word from her son, Pfc. Clyde W. Shindldecker, in over eight months.

In his letter Pfc. Shindldecker revealed he had been in Germany for a long time but was in Paris, France, at the time he wrote his letter. Shindldecker has earned five battle stars in nearly two years of overseas duty.

CARS DAMAGED

Two cars were badly damaged in a collision at 9:30 o'clock Monday evening at the intersection of Franklin and West Middle streets and one of the drivers, Lester Raymond Wastler, Emmitsburg, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder on a charge of passing a through traffic stop sign.

The other car involved was operated by William Straley, Emmitsburg road. Occupants of the machines escaped with minor injuries.

Borough Officer Clark Staley investigated and filed the charge.

HOSPITAL REPORT

Wilford Johnson, a Jamaican, was admitted to the Warner hospital this morning for observation following a fall from a ladder while working in the Heller fruit farm orchards.

Other admissions included Mrs. Clair Bricker, York Springs; Mrs. John Hugh Scott, Gettysburg R. 2; John Snyder, Littlestown, and Sandra Detrick, Hanover street. Those discharged were Marilyn Showers, Biglerville R. 1; Richard Brown, Esq., Fairfield road; Mrs. William A. Dayhoff and infant daughter, Janet, Littlestown, and Walter D. Shoemaker, Littlestown.

$186 Billion
In War Goods
In Five Years

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—WPB Chairman J. A. Krug today made public for the first time these highlights of the nation's munitions record for five historic years.

The grand total of war materials produced from July, 1940, through July, 1945, was valued at $186,000,000,000. This included:

A fleet of 297,000 military airplanes, of which 97,000 were bombers

76,485 ships—including 64,500 landing craft, 6,500 other navy ships and 5,425 cargo vessels.

17,400,000 rifles, carbines and side-arms; 315,000 pieces of field artillery and mortars; 165,525 naval guns.

41,400,000 rounds of small arms ammunition; 4,200,000 tons of artillery shells.

86,338 tanks and 2,434,553 trucks.

Navy fire power increased ten-fold in five years.

The merchant fleet was quadrupled.

The total output of goods (war and civilian) and services rose by more than 50 per cent. The volume of manufacturing nearly tripled. Output of raw materials increased 60 per cent.

Total civilian production remained above the levels of 1937 and 1939, despite the fact that manufacture of automobiles, refrigerators and washing machines and many other products was halted.

Employment in manufacturing alone increased by 6,407,000 persons from 1939 to 1944. Aircraft employment grew from 100,000 to 2,000,000.

WHISKY RATION
TO CONTINUE

Harrisburg, Oct. 9 (AP)—Chairman Frederick T. Gelder of the Liquor Control Board said that rationing of whisky will continue in Pennsylvania for some time, at least "until an individual can go into any state store with a reasonable expectation of being able to purchase any brand he wants."

Gelder said that rationing was being continued "until we can get assurance from the vendors that they have an ample supply on hand to meet our needs."

RECORDS FALL AS CUBS KNOT WORLD SERIES

By SID FEDER

Chicago, Oct. 9 (AP)—It is a photo finish as to whether the ball players or the fans were dizzier from the antics that threw this weird world series between the Detroit Tigers and the Chicago Cubs into the full seven-game route, and the question now is not which team will win the series tomorrow, but which team will boot it.

The way things have been going through this freakiest of all fall frolics—not omitting the about face by the official scorers on the decisive play in yesterday's game—it appears that the club which finally finishes in front will do so only because it can't help itself. The other outfit won't let it lose.

They're going to need the finale of this richest of all series at 1:30 p. m. (EST) tomorrow all because of yesterday's "rhubarb" that the Tigers finally lost to the Cubs 8-7 in 12 innings of something that resembled baseball.

Topsy-Turvy Play

In yesterday's game there were such doings as 38 players parading about the premises; a base-runner falling flat on his face with home plate in sight; dinky fly balls falling for hits while fly chasers bowed politely; enough throws to wrong bases to bring a suggestion for a radar set in the infield, and an assortment of pitching by nine elbows.

On the other side there was Hank Greenberg's homer in the eighth that topped off a four-run Detroit rally and tied the game. And Stan Hack's four hits, the last of which, with two away and a mate on first in the 12th broke up the ball game.

It was on the original ruling on Hack's hit in the 12th that the official scorers reversed themselves. Dizzy Trout, five-hit winner of Saturday's game, was in there for the Detroit by that time—the fifth Bengal pitcher during the afternoon.

Frank Secory had touched him for a single and Billy Schuster was sent in to run. Hack, who'd knocked in two tallies during a four-run Cub rally in the fifth, hit the 2-1 pitch through short and on into left field.

Bounce Did It

Hank Greenberg came in to field it and Schuster slowed up coming into third. Then the ball took a crazy jump over Greenberg's shoulder and kept right on its merry way out to the left field wall. By the time Hank caught up with it, Schuster was home.

Hack was on second and the series was tied at three games apiece.

The scorers ruled it a single for Hack and an error for Hank. This started a sizzling stew among baseball writers and baseball men. Five hours later the scorers announced they'd re-counted the votes and ruled it a two-bagger for Stan, and no boggle for Greenberg.

Hack, who's leading the series with a .440 batting mark, didn't know whether to cheer about the extra-baser he was handed, or moan about the switch. Because when the scorers gave him that double, it cut his number of singles for the day to three. This removed his name from the record books even before it was written in among the few players who've clouted the record four singles in one game, making Stan probably the shortest-term record holder in history.

Tigers Aces Ready

The Tigers are in a lot better spot for the "odd" game tomorrow than the National League. Detroit has lefty Hal Newhouser, who's won one and dropped one so far in the series, ready to go, with lefty Stubby Overmire set to play fireman.

The Cubs had to use all four of their regular starters—Hank Wyse and Ray Prim in addition to Passeau and Borowy—to win yesterday's game.

Louisville Leads In Little Series

Newark, N. J., Oct. 9 (AP)—Rex Cecil, former Boston Red Sox hurler, is Manager Nemo Leibold's choice to make it two straight for the Louisville Colonels of the American association in tonight's second game of the little world series.

Skipper Bill Meyer of the Newark Bears who bowed, 4-2, to the Colonels in last night's opener, said he was banking on Karl Drews to even the count for the International League.

COACH QUILTS

Shamokin, Pa., Oct. 9 (AP)—Walter J. Hall, for the past 11 years football coach at Shamokin high school, turned in his resignation to the school board after his team had taken a 53-0 setback from Williamsport last Saturday.

Superintendent Joseph L. Davidson said yesterday that Hall's place would be filled for the balance of this season by Michael (Gish) Lembar, a member of the high school faculty.

One of Hall's sons captained last year's Shamokin team and now is playing for Bucknell, while another boy is a member of the present Shamokin squad.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—On top of the news from Chicago that the major league club owners and presidents are none too happy about Happy Chandler's administration of baseball comes word from our old friend, Mr. Reliable Source, the minors have the same idea for slightly different reasons . . . so don't be surprised if someone gets up at the December minor league convention and proposes limiting the commissioner's jurisdiction even though nothing can be done at that time. . . . The minor leaguers are peeved at Chandler's declaration that their bonus rule is both unfair and illegal. They figure small independent clubs can't afford to pay bonuses and they'll be forced to do it if the "chain" clubs are given that privilege. . . . Add to that a rhubarb between Chandler and the baseball writers over World Series scoring and some hot words between Larry MacPhail, supposedly Happy's principal backer, and Minor League Boss W. G. Bramham, and you can see that Chandler won't have to go south for a warm winter.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Coach Herb Kopf figures the football Yanks must have set a record Sunday when they completed six passes by six different tossers against the Redskins. . . . Fritz Zivic has received an offer for himself and his protegee, Juste Fontaine, to fight in England. But Fritz will have trouble getting a furlough long enough for that trip. . . . When Sgt. Fred Whiteacre, former Texas golf pro, made the first hole-in-one on the Mahal Country club course recently, he used a driver that had belonged to Sammy Snead. It was a 251-yard ace.

HE WASN'T FAR WRONG

Clem Crowe, Iowa grid coach, tells this one about sending freshmen sub into the game against Bergstrom field. . . . When the eager, excited kid dashed on the field, the referee, trying to be helpful, asked whom he was reporting for. . . . "Why, Iowa, of course," the frosh gasped incredulously.

CLEANING THE CUFF

Jack Sutherland, whose last football job was coaching Brooklyn when Brooklyn still had football "Dodgers" plans to visit his mother in Scotland before returning to football after he gets out of the navy.

Philadelphia, Oct. 9 (AP)—Penn faces "a powerful football team" Saturday when it meets North Carolina, says Quaker Scout Horace Hendrickson who has scouted the Tarheels for the last three weeks. Hendrickson told the Red and Blue squad that North Carolina has played seven games, including four practice tilts, and "should be at its best" when it lines up against Penn.

Philadelphia, Oct. 9 (AP)—Drexel Institute of Technology will be without the services of Bill Barnes, ace blocking back, when it meets the City college of New York in the first home game Saturday. Barnes was stricken with appendicitis following last Saturday's defeat by West Virginia university and underwent an operation at Harrisburg.

Philadelphia, Oct. 9 (AP)—Coach Ray Morrison lists the Bucknell game on Friday night as "one Temple must win."

"The game this week with Bucknell will mark the sixth time I have readied a team for such a contest," said Morrison. "and I know that Temple will not face a more determined foe all season."

NEEDY BURGLARS

Portland Ore. (AP)—End of the wartime boom here has reduced thieves to taking almost anything.

John Bribbon told police a prowler entered his home, took two bananas, 50 cents and five theater tickets.

ARMY GRIDDERS ARE NO. 1 TEAM

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—Army's two impressive triumphs this season have convinced most of the 111 sports experts who took part in the Associated Press' first weekly poll of 1945 that the cadets still rate as the No. 1 team of collegiate football.

The West Pointers were acclaimed as national champions last year after they had won all of their nine games and rolled up 504 points to their opponents' 35.

Eighty-six of the 111 writers cast their first place ballots for Earl Blaik's powerhouse. Twenty spotted them second and the rest placed the grey clads in either third or fifth place, for a total of 1,076 points on a basis of ten for first, nine for second, etc.

Navy, 49-0 and 21-0 victors over Villanova and Duke in order, was ranked second on 14 first place votes and 955 points.

The rest of the Big Ten (with first place votes and points in parentheses) were: Notre Dame (3-699), Ohio State (3-658), Minnesota (2-665), Southern California (1-435), Alabama (0-305), Indiana (0-216), Michigan (1-185) and Texas (0-167).

SERIES NOTES

Chicago, Oct. 9 (AP)—Gus Phan

thinks this is a great World Series, no matter how much the boys up in the press box needle it as a classic example of how not to play major league baseball.

Only 37,184 patrons have to push through the Wrigley Field turnstiles for tomorrow's deciding seventh game to tie the 1926 attendance record of 328,051 for a limit Series. Yesterday's chilled throng of 41,708 was the smallest at the three games already played here. A total of 290,867 fans have attended the six games to date.

While Managers Charley Grimm of the Cubs and Steve O'Neill of the Tigers pull their hair and veteran scribes shake their heads in sad dismay over the antics of the contenders, the series already has pumped a record: $1,388,277 into baseball's coffers.

The nicest thing that could happen in the Series was the three official scorers' reversal of their decision on Stan Hack's game-winning hit yesterday. That took the finger off Hank Greenberg, who has hit the Cubs with everything but the water-bucket to keep the Tigers in the Series this long. It wasn't sentiment that lifted the error from Greenberg on Hack's blow which bounded over the Tiger left-fielder's shoulder. The howl in the press box was terrific and it grew louder as the evening wore on.

Greenberg confided to American League Publicist Earl Hilligan that Hack's hit, a smoking roller between third and shortstop, darted three feet over his shoulder just as he crouched to retrieve it. "I don't care if it was scored an error, or whether my name is spelled right," declared Hank, "but it does make me sick to know we lost the game that way."

KRAMER SAYS HE SOUGHT TO ABOLISH CAMP

By WILLIAM FRYE

Lueneburg, Oct. 9 (AP)—Josef Kramer, fighting desperately to save his neck, told a military court today that when the advancing British Army was less than 30 miles from the Belsen concentration camp his superiors still were shipping thousands of prisoners into the camp he wanted to evacuate.

Testifying in his own defense, the former commandant of the Oswiecim and Belsen horror camps said he sent message after message to Berlin asking for evacuation orders. After the fourth appeal, he said, a reply came saying headquarters was unable to understand his desire to evacuate the camp because Heinrich Himmler had just ordered 30,000 more prisoners sent there.

Called Scapegoat

Kramer, who was represented by defense council as a scapegoat for Himmler and other Nazi big shots, asserted that from April 4 to 13 about 28,000 prisoners arrived in Belsen by truck, train and on foot.

He said he assigned prisoners to huts in numbers far exceeding the capacity of the buildings because "I thought it was better to have a roof over their heads than for them to camp in the woods."

His counsel, Major Thomas Claude Winwood, scored a telling point when he succeeded in introducing into testimony a letter which Kramer said he wrote his superiors in Berlin March 1, 1945, describing conditions at Belsen as completely out of hand and asking for assistance in setting them right.

Kramer defended as a health measure the roll calls during which, prosecution witnesses said, the inmates—weakened by disease and starvation—were forced to stand for long hours in freezing weather.

AP TO CHANGE SOME BY-LAWS

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—Robert McLean, president of The Associated Press, has issued the following denial yesterday of a petition for rehearing on the Supreme court's decision on its ruling that the AP must amend its by-laws on admission of new members:

"The Associated Press has been advised by counsel that, with the denial of the petition for rehearing, all efforts in the courts in the government's anti-trust action have been exhausted.

"Prompt action will be taken to comply with the decision so that the court injunction may be lifted, since it is inconceivable that the world's greatest news service shall operate permanently under restraint which threatens government supervision of the channels of news.

"Although limitations have been placed on its right to control its own affairs, The Associated Press will continue to supply all the news—unbiased and untrammelled—with the fidelity that has characterized its course since its foundation.

"Its staff throughout the world is dedicated to this purpose. Its operations are expanding as the tide of war recedes. It will continue to merit the charges leveled against it by the government that is service is of outstanding quality and that its form of organization is assurance that the news gathered and distributed by The Associated Press shall be as nearly impartial, objective and complete as human endeavor can make it."

Electric Firms Are Sued By U. S.

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—The Justice Department today announced the filing of a civil action against the General Electric Company and the Westinghouse Electric Corporation, alleging violation of the anti-trust laws in the sale of electrical equipment for export.

The action, brought in the Federal District Court for Southern New York, also named the International General Electric Company (IGE), formed in 1919 by GE as an agent in certain foreign countries; Westinghouse Electric International Company, organized in 1919 by Westinghouse as an agent abroad; and Electrical Apparatus Export Association, formed about 1931 by IGE and Westinghouse International.

EDITORS SEE BIG BOOM IN STATE TRADE

Harrisburg, Oct. 9 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers association said Monday that "business generally throughout the Commonwealth is booming" as editors and publishers of daily papers gathered for a conference to discuss problems of the press in the reconstruction period.

"Large manufacturers in many lines are trying to establish local dealerships to push their products, and this will mean increased newspaper advertising," a PNPA statement said.

"It was predicted that the newspapers would receive all the advertising they could possibly print between now and July 1, 1946, after which some relief in newspaper supply is expected."

Several publishers, the PNPA said, reported that wartime experiences would result in savings in operating expenses but that high costs in supplies and labor would offset these savings.

State Program

Floyd Chalfant, secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce, told of the Pennsylvania development program now in the making.

G. Albert Stewart, Clearfield Progress, president of the PNPA, pointed to the trend in greater community service being given by smaller newspapers.

Radio was discussed by William K. Ulerich, Centre Daily Times, State College. Other subjects on the program were research, advertising and circulation rates, postal rates, editorial trends as employment of service men.

William H. Shelton, Norristown Times Herald, was selected to preside at the conference, one of a series arranged by the PNPA western Pennsylvania editors and publishers of daily newspapers will meet in Pittsburgh Oct. 15.

Sunday Movies Up In 27 Communities

Harrisburg, Oct. 9 (AP)—The courts have ruled out a vote on the question of Sunday movies in four cities but a referendum on the issue is listed in 27 other municipalities in Pennsylvania at the November election.

A hearing will be held Wednesday at Williamsport on the status of a temporary injunction, banning the question from the ballot there.

The Dauphin county court refused an injunction to church groups to prevent a vote at Middletown and set the case down for hearing next month, leaving the way open to contest the result of the referendum.

Court orders prevented the Sunday movie referenda at Harrisburg, Lancaster, Pottsville and Tamaqua. Of those cities only Tamaqua now permits Sunday movies.

Of the 27 communities voting on the issue next month only two, Bradford and New Castle, now permit Sunday movies.

NEED A SUB? NAVY OFFERING SEVEN FOR SALE

Philadelphia, Oct. 9 (AP)—Need

a submarine? Seven of Uncle Sam's underseas craft, all boasting illustrious Pacific war records, are anchored at the Philadelphia Navy yard.

The Navy Material and Redistribution and Disposal Administration has tagged each with a "for sale" sign.

Among them are the famed Narwhal, carrying on her conning tower 20 flags for a score of Japanese sinkings, and the Nautilus, credited with 14 Japanese ships. They are the newest of the lot, being constructed and commissioned in 1930 at a combined cost of $12,740,000.

Ready to Be Towed Away
Oldest of the seven are the P-2 and the K-17, built in 1918.

Stripped of ordnance and navigational equipment, the seven subs add up to 8,800 tons for the scrap metal pile.

The underseas craft have been decommissioned but are afloat, ready to be towed away by buyers.

It was in the spring of 1942 that the Nautilus helped pick off the remnants of the fleeing Japanese fleet at the battle of Midway. On August 17 of that year she was used by Col. Evans P. Carlson and his Marine Raiders to land on Makin Island.

The Narwhal roamed the Pacific with a cruising radius of 15,000 miles; brought scores of fighting men and civilians from enemy territory; did a trick as a hospital ship and ran the gauntlet of Japanese navy might to get supplies and armament to guerrilla bands.

GROUP BACKS BYRNES' ACTS

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes has the comfortable, if unofficial, backing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to carry along on the uncharted peace treaty course.

Members left no doubt, as they reviewed a three-hour session with the secretary, that Byrnes had earned their approval in his first major test in directing American foreign policy at the London foreign ministers conference.

The affable Byrnes, right at home in the committee room, filled in the blank spaces of his Friday night radio report to the nation.

Members said he gave them about the frankest, most detailed description of what went on behind the scenes at London that they had ever received of any conference. Talking senatorial language, Byrnes was reported to have got down to the brass tacks of what he said to Russian Foreign Commissar Molotov and what Molotov replied.

The senators liked the report. And they liked Byrnes' action in permitting the conference to end in outward failure because he would not agree to exclude France and China from discussions of proposed European treaties.

YANK JUSTICE IN WAR TRIALS SURPRISES FOE

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.

(Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The Japanese who ordered the execution of American fliers who raided Tokyo with General Doolittle in the early days of the war probably are suffering from an incomprehensible surprise today.

Although an accused man's right to defense by counsel of his own choosing is an axiomatic part of Anglo-Saxon justice, one wonders sometimes whether such motives are completely beyond the ken of other peoples. It would be interesting to know how Tokyo newspapers handled the story of General Yamashita's arraignment in Manila, defended by an American officer who also obtained the defense services of two Japanese generals who are themselves suspected of war crimes.

If there are those in Japan who have not entirely forgotten the bushido decree of fairness toward a conquered enemy, then the incident might have tremendous propaganda value. Especially if the Japanese could be made to realize that it is not a special case for the benefit of a man whom they might expect to receive such treatment. They might be even more surprised if apprised of the skillful maneuvering of American defense counsel for Kramer of Belsen.

Get Legal Hearing

Similar machinery is beginning to roll at Nuernburg in infinitely difficult circumstances. There, for the first time, men are to be given a legal hearing on a charge of committing the crime of war. It is an unprecedented step, comparable to the times when men, lacking formal codes of law, first began to try offenders in the light of community conscience.

Justice Robert Jackson proposes to use what, in Anglo-Saxon court procedure, is one of the most difficult.

Today's Talk

DRAMATIC LITTLE THINGS
Shakespeare talked about life as a stage—with each of us playing a part. Life is a continuous drama. It becomes dull and dull only when we fail to play our part.

Often the simplest and most insignificant parts in a drama are the most outstanding and dramatic. It's the way we do things that counts—not necessarily the part we play.

Going out of our way to do some unusual thing is to enact the dramatic.

I saw a small boy in a big city step suddenly out of the crowd to take the arm of a blind man and lead him safely across a crowded crossing. It was dramatic—beautifully so, though done for no dramatic purpose.

The child, thinking up some small surprise for his father or mother, does a dramatic thing, but it is done in such a natural manner that it amounts to a beautiful art in itself.

In every store, in every railroad station, upon the streets of all our cities and towns, and in homes everywhere, little things in the drama of life are forever being enacted.

We need the dramatic and the unusual to keep us even in keel and to cultivate a sense of humor within us, which is so important as the mysteries of life grow more and more confusing.

To plan out small surprises for those one loves and admires is a simple procedure, yet so few of us do it. We would do more of it if we only knew how thrilling it is and how really dramatic it is to do so!

Mind the little things each day. The big things take care of themselves.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Grim—And Bear It"

Says Bombs Will Keep Japs Quiet

Hickam Field, Honolulu, Oct. 9 (AP)—"The power of bombs put Japan out of the war and can keep her from getting into another," Gen. George C. Kenney, commander of the Far East Air Force, said on his arrival here enroute to Washington.

He termed the atom bomb "just another bomb" and said "there will be others that will make it in comparison as small as the fragmentation bomb." He did not elaborate on the prediction.

He urged retention of a strong and well balanced air arm to insure peace in the Pacific.

Out Of The Past
From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times
FIFTY YEARS AGO

The Cigars Are Ours: On Wednesday morning the delegation of the local fire company, numbering 39 and the G. A. Band left for the Firemen's convention at Reading. The boys looked fine in their new suits and made a good impression. In Reading they were one of the chief attractions in the parade. More than 9,000 men were in line, but every spectator wished to see the smallest man present. He was Daniel Sell, accompanying the delegation, who is 54 years old and measures only 37 inches in height. He was arrayed in full uniform made by John D. Lippy and looked every inch a fireman. A prize of 500 cigars was offered the company having the smallest fireman in the parade, and we were the winners. The boys returned Friday evening delighted with their entertainment.

Local Miscellany: First Assistant Postmaster General Jones has issued an order giving a ruling that no children under 15 can get any mail without an order from their parents.

Tommy Johnson, formerly of this place, won four races last week at Woodboro, Md. He also won the 235 race at the Hanover fair.

J. L. Burk, who has been conducting a temperance hotel in Harney, has returned to this place.

John E. McDonnell, of this place, has three beetles weighing 8, 9 and 10 pounds, respectively.

Mrs. Jacob I. Mumper sends us a mammoth radish which weighs six and one-half pounds.

The Lutheran Deaconess' home in Baltimore was opened on Monday. Miss Lucy Eysler, who was born near McSherrystown, is one of the sisters.

William H. Sheads, who was elected janitor of the public schools, has declined to accept. Craig Shields, the old janitor, has been re-appointed.

Battlefield Notes: The Meade statue is being placed in position on the ridge between the Meade headquarters and Hancock avenue.

The Telford avenue in the rear of the seminary and extending from Chambersburg pike to a point south of the Hagerstown road, has been finished.

The contractors, Farrell brothers, have a large force at work on Hancock avenue. Stones are being laid on a position and the other part is being graded.

A New Monument Proposed: A petition is in circulation in town asking the court to submit to the next Grand Jury whether they will not recommend to the county commissioners the erection at the county's expense, in our center square, of a monument to the memory of the soldiers of Adams county, who served in the Union army. Under a recent act of Assembly, the recommendation of two grand juries would send the petition to the commissioners for their decision. The proposition is to erect a monument costing about $5,000.

Personal Mention: Miss Mary Van Cleave has gone to Wilson college, Chambersburg.

Charles T. Ziegler, son of Wm. T. Ziegler, has gone to Philadelphia to attend lectures at the school of pharmacy.

Miss Belle F. Leeds, of Washington, D. C., is visiting her grandfather, Jacob Auginbaugh, and friends.

Last week Clarence Hummelbaugh took a Civil Service examination at Philadelphia for a position in the government printing office.

Miss Katie V. Noble, of Baltimore, is visiting Miss A. S. Barr.

Mr. Wm. E. Rose, of Cumberland county, visited friends in this vicinity last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wierman are in the eastern cities this week.

Miss Nellie Berkstresser has returned to Warren, Pa.

Mrs. De Yoe, of Harrisburg, is with Dr. and Mrs. H. W. McKnight.

Mrs. Edgar S. Faber and daughters are visiting friends in York.

Miss C. M. W. Foster, of Johnstown, and Mrs. D. H. Merchor, of Springtown, are guests of Mrs. O. E. Monfort.

The Rev. D. P. Drawbaugh and wife, of McConnellsburg, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. John Zinn.

Rev. Dr. John D. Morris, of Lutherville, was believed to be dying Tuesday morning at an early hour. Jacob Leedy, of Youngstown, Ohio, is on a visit to his old home with his wife, formerly Miss Catharine Gillespie. Sixty years ago Mr. Leedy was one of our active young business men.

Officers Elected: The Cayugas Tribe, I.O.R.M., have elected the following officers: S. J. F. Stallsmith, S.S.; D. J. Little; J. S. D. Menchey; Prophet; J. W. Flaharty; trustee, T. J. Stahlke.

Opening: Miss A. S. Barr extends a cordial invitation to her opening of stylishly trimmed hats and bonnets, on Friday and Saturday, October 18th and 19th.

Her young lady trimmers have spent several weeks in Baltimore copying styles, getting ideas, etc.

Mrs. C. Comfort and Mrs. B. Larnshaw, 225 Baltimore street, have just received their fall and winter millinery goods, all the latest novelties.

PRESIDENT TO DEDICATE DAM ON WEDNESDAY

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Caruthersville, Mo., Oct. 9 (AP)—President Truman began drafting Monday a speech championing multiple purpose development of waterways by regional authorities as he brought another Missouri visit to a close.

His luggage was packed for a two-day sojourn in Tennessee where the Tennessee Valley Authority, the New Deal's vast public power development celebrates the completion of its original ten-dam chain Wednesday.

The President plans to go to Gilbertsville, Ky., Wednesday for a speech at 12 noon (EST) dedicating Kentucky dam, the last of the major TVA flood control-navigation-power dams harnessing the Tennessee river.

In the meantime, however, the President planned to spend much of his time today relaxing on historic Reel Foot lake, west Tennessee's paradise for fishermen.

He brought his southeast Missouri visit to a close Sunday afternoon at the Penicost Country fair with a speech in which he asked the co-operation of all the American people in bringing crises on the home production front and in the field of foreign affairs to a speedy solution.

To this task, he dedicated all the authority of his high office. Telling his Missouri home folk that these two top problems head the list of grave tasks, he said that in 30 years of public office he had not shirked a responsibility, and added: "I shall not shirk this one."

Pleading for co-operation of the American public, as well as Congress, he declared that the road to peace may prove more difficult than that to victory in war.

At home, he said, that requires the cooperation of "management and labor, the farmers, every storekeeper and every man who has an interest in the government of the United States."

He pledged the United States to leadership in the defense of the "golden rule," which he set as the cornerstone of its foreign policy, and warned that unless there is co-operation to outlaw the destructive use of atomic energy, another world war will bring an end to the civilization America desires.

Wake-Less Tubes Sink Many Ships

Sharon, Pa., Oct. 9 (AP)—A contract awarded less than four months after Pearl Harbor for the development of a wake-less, silent and untraceable torpedo resulted in the sinking of 1,838,000 tons of Japanese shipping during the war by this weapon alone, the Westinghouse Electric corporation, discloses.

Need for a new type weapon which could not be detected like the compressed air variety was recognized early in the war.

Electrical-driven torpedoes went into full-scale production early in 1943 and on V-J Day, the 10,000 "tin fish" came off the assembly line.

Special arrangements were made by Westinghouse to set aside an area of Lake Pymatuning to test the torpedoes. There, minus the war head, the missiles were shot from tubes and their actions observed.

Nurse Tells Of Murder Factory

Wiesbaden, Germany, Oct. 9 (AP)—A German nurse at the Hadamar hospital, testifying at the first mass atrocity trial in the American occupation zone, asserted Monday that "only bodies came out" of the asylum which the prosecution has described as a murder factory.

Nurse Minna Zachow was the first witness to appear at the trial of seven Germans, charged before a U. S. Military court with murdering more than 400 Russians and Polish slave laborers, women and children.

At the outset of the trial, the court upheld the right of the United States to try German civilians under International law for crimes committed against other Allied nationals—even before the occupation of Germany.

October Planting Suggestions

Apple, pear and plum trees may be planted safely late this month after they are entirely dormant. Of course, many experienced fruit growers prefer spring planting in this latitude, yet fall-planted trees, especially if they are strong specimens, survive without harm. The chief objection to pre-winter fruit tree planting is the likelihood of winter-killing.

Two practices are stressed in fall planting of deciduous fruit trees—First, dig the hole several inches deeper and larger in other dimensions than actually needed to accommodate the roots and fill in this surrounding space with fertile garden or fence-row loam. Next, leave the earth (after it settles) around the trunk slightly raised in order to shed water away from the area over winter. The opposite—a depression around the base—is advised for spring planting so rain can be captured for the rooting area.

If a block of fruit trees is planted, with apples spaced 35 to 40 feet apart, plums 28 to 30 feet, and pears about 25 feet, blackberries, raspberries and dewberries may be interplanted to produce revenue crops until the trees come into production. Soil should be prepared before winter where brambles are to be planted early next spring. Or a row of grape vines may be started between the trees, spaced about 10 feet apart and trained to a suitable type of trellis.

Growers not ready to plant apple, plum and pear trees may prepare the soil before winter and do the planting work early in the spring. However, where winter-killing is not likely, late October planted trees are favored to start growth well in advance of spring-planted specimens.

Flower growers easily overlook the fact that several hardy annuals may be started in October—seed sown in well drained beds. These include Sweet Alyssum, Snapdragons, Cornflower, Clarkia, Gypsophila, Sweet Pea and others. It is not wise to make these planting too early.

If clumps of late Swiss chard are taken up by the roots and transplanted to a sunny coldframe and sash used carefully to protect them from freezing, plenty of crisp leaves may be cut for salads until early winter. Too, growth will resume early in the spring.

Like most other early flowering

Shrub, lilac do best when transplanted in late October. This is also true of Forsythia, Redbud and other flowering sorts. In most of these cases growth starts so early in late winter that spring planting is injurious. Use plenty of rich loam around the roots, add some commercial fertilizer through the top soil, plant firmly and guard against poor drainage.

Almost all deciduous shade trees may be planted or larger specimens moved after they become thoroughly dormant—from late October until late winter.

October is lily-planting time for bulbs of the hardier sorts. Of course, too much emphasis cannot be placed on the necessity of giving lilies good drainage and a site where they need not be disturbed for several years.

It is not too late to tuck in a few more Dutch bulbs, especially those superior Holland-grown shipments which are arriving late this year. Too, domestic bulbs are proving far more vigorous than they did a few years ago.

NEW HOPE RISES IN COAL STRIKE

Pittsburgh, Oct. 9 (AP)—Two developments today gave rise to hope of a not too remote settlement in the 19-day-old soft coal strike that has made 178,000 miners idle in six states and begun to curtail steel production:

(1) Secretary of Labor Schwelbach reported progress in his discussions which continued today with UMW President John L. Lewis and coal operators.

(2) An NLRB examiner completed a hearing on the mine bosses' plea for union recognition and said he would report his findings promptly to the national board in Washington.

Steel Held Up
Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation declared the dearth of coking coal would make it lose 60,000 tons of ingot steel this week. The company's plant at Farrell, Pa., and its two steel plate mills at Homestead, Pa., closed down, furloughing 2,700 to 3,000 workers.

Carnegie-Illinois' parent company, U. S. Steel, said its operations had been cut to 51 per cent and that by What's the Latest on Natural Gas Home Heating Equipment?

1. It takes a little time
—Manufacturers of Gas furnaces and Gas conversion units are working feverishly to supply the huge demand for this equipment. Your heating contractor and your Gas Company are doing everything they can to speed delivery and installation. So, please be patient a little longer. It is expected that by the first of the year Gas home heating equipment will be available in reasonable supply and your wait will be well rewarded when you enjoy its many benefits.
2. What you can do while waiting for new equipment
—There are several important first steps that you should take, while you are waiting to secure new Gas home heating equipment.
(A) Get in touch with your Gas Company for a survey of your home to be sure you install equipment of ample capacity to do the best heating job.
(B) Then, Insulation. No matter what fuel you use, you will save money if your home is well insulated, and has adequate storm sash.
3. Meanwhile, a word of warning!
—Please do not let your anxiety to enjoy the economy, automatic control, healthful warmth and other advantages of Gas home heating, urge you into buying equipment without adequate investigation as to its capacity, safety and efficiency. If the Gas home heating equipment you install carries the approval of the American Gas Association, it will assure you sound, safe equipment, engineered to give you the best value. Your Gas Company cordially invites you to keep in touch with it on this subject so vital to your comfort, convenience and health, for years to come.

SAYS KEEPING A-BOMB SECRET
IS "SELFISH"

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—Senators jittery over the future of atomic research heard a scientist contend today that "it is selfish, and perhaps dangerous, to conceal knowledge or obstruct its use."

Referring specifically to "the current situation with respect to atomic energy," Dr. Harlow Shapley of Harvard said he believes it "unwise to withhold for any appreciable time essential knowledge that can be of value to the whole world."

An astronomer and director of the Harvard College observatory, Shapley prepared his testimony in support of pending bills to create a national research agency to keep this country in the parade of scientific progress.

Serve All Mankind

Discussing the projected agency's international role, Shapley declared:

"We must, as soon as it is emotionally possible, accept the principle that scientists are world citizens, that they serve all mankind, that they work not for the past but for the future."

"And the future, if it is to be made safe for civilization, is one in which narrowly national interests diminish and world-wide responsibilities increase."

The witness asserted that "the least we can do is to increase the amount of friendly cooperation on an international basis. Our scientific advance should be promptly revealed—except in the emergency of national defense—to all who can profit by that knowledge; and we should systematically expect the scientists of other nations to reciprocate."

Kuni, that Japan should be permitted to punish its own war criminals.

Shidehara characterized his cabinet as "composed of liberal elements, and you can be sure there are no reactionary elements." He said it was only a question of "a few months" before dissolution of the war and navy ministries.

Time is required, he explained, to change the imperial decrees which created the posts.

No Apologies

Shidehara branded as "rumors" previous reports that Japan would send an apologetic envoy to China, and said he had no intention of so doing.

Shidehara said that "as a principle, my government is fully prepared to recognize freedom of thought," which MacArthur has ordered for Japan.

The government was not interfering with the formation of the prospective new Socialist party, he said.

Asked what kind of a peace he thought was being enforced, Shidehara said "probably soft in some respects and hard in others, but that is my own supposition."

Chapter 1

The elevator disgorged its cargo of passengers into the milling lobby of the First National Bank Building and Anne Winslow hurried toward the revolving doors. She was late going to lunch today since the attorneys for whom she worked had been all tied up in perparing contracts that couldn't wait. She lowered her head to make the push into the rapidly circling door and so did not see the tall young man other man she'd ever met, he could little gasp as someone slid into the compartment with her and she felt her elbow grasped in a firm palm.

As the door swung into the street she looked up into the laughing brown eyes of Wayne McDowell. He retained his hold on her arm and she was conscious of a breathless thrill caused by his nearness. There was a note of seriousness beneath the banter in his voice.

"Un-huh! Tracked down at last, my proud beauty! And don't think you're getting away from me either, so stop straining at the leash!"

Anne laughed and straightened her hat with her free hand. "I don't want to get away from you, goody! But I haven't a lot of time to waste!"

"Time to waste, she says! I like that! Here I've been chasing the woman for weeks trying to get in a word with her, and now she calls my conversation a waste of time!" He achieved a drolly comical expression on his handsome face. She looked up at his broad bigness and knew that more than any other man she'd ever met, he could set her pulses stirring, but her voice was as gay as his.

"I suppose I'm to believe that a great athletic hero like you, with literally swarms of girls falling all over you, would have time to even think of me!"

"His hand tightened on her arm. "That's exactly what you are to believe, madam!" he assured her. "Of course you can skip all that hero stuff!"

"But—the basketball idol of the entire state—the champion outdoor miler!"

"Nuts! And believe me, little darling, I may have learned to hurdle a lot of barriers but not the kind you've apparently put up against me!" His brown eyes scanned her face. "What's wrong with me, anyway? Halitosis or something?"

She laughed. "Don't be silly! I haven't been avoiding you, as you fondly seem to think. I've just been busy—what with all those concerns wanting post-war contracts of one sort or another drawn up. You ought to know that, if you doing uncle tells you anything at all about the business."

"Well, I'll reluctantly accept your apology—you did apologize, didn't you? On one condition—you'll come to lunch with me now. How about it?"

"I haven't much time—" "Hang the time! I wish you would get fired! Maybe you'd marry me for a home!"

Anne sighed. "Wayne, you're hopeless. Come on, then. Where do we eat?"

She was not all certain that she should have come with him as they swung along the streets crowded with the noontime rush. Old Mr. Farham, Wayne's uncle, was one of her bosses and it was through him that the acquaintance had been made. Wayne had forthwith precipitated himself unreservedly at her feet, but she had refused to go out with him. It was her firm conviction that her duties at the office did not include entertaining the boss' nephew, especially since that nephew was one of the wealthiest and most sought after young men in town. Captain of the State University's basketball team, conqueror of all the hurdles he had mentioned in track meets, Wayne McDowell had blazoned a name for himself across the sport pages of the nation and many a predatory co-ed looked upon him with longing eyes. "No use sticking my heart out!" Anne had reasoned with sound judgement. But no amount of reasoning had been able to keep him locked out of her thoughts and dreams.

He was headed surely toward the Tulip Room of the town's biggest hotel. "But Wayne," she protested, though her heart quivered in anticipation, "I'm really not used to such elegance at the lunch hour!"

"Think nothing of it," he answered airily. "The best is not half good enough for you, little darling!"

The Tulip Room was muted with soft lights and softer music. A gracious intimacy surrounded each small table and the one to which Wayne and Anne sat became a little island upon which they two dwelt alone for a happy interval. He could scarcely take his eyes from her flushed, lovely face long enough to give their order and the waiter coughed discreetly to remind them of his presence. When Wayne said, in that audacious way of his, "Don't strain yourself, junior, to get back in too big a hurry!" the man's trained mask relaxed and a faint smile warmed his mouth.

Wayne was looking at her with his heart in his eyes. "You see, you just had to come with me today, honey! This is in the nature of a celebration. I'm going into the Navy on Monday!"

She caught her breath as her patent leather slippers. She did not know what emotion was pictured in her face, but it was enough to make him reach across for her hand and to say in his deep, rich voice, "You care about it, don't you, little darling?"

She was thinking what it would mean not to see him around any more—how bleak the days were going to be when he would not breeze into the office with his carefree chatter—would not be about any more, pestering her for dates!

"Oh, Wayne, dear, of course I

care! I'll miss you like—like everything!"

He straightened up, smiled with pleasure and attacked his salad with vigor. "That makes everything just about all right!" he concluded. "I was half afraid you'd sigh in relief and say, 'Thank Heaven!'"

"You didn't think anything of the sort!" she retorted almost angrily, and was appalled to find tears very hot and close behind her eyelids. "You surely know how I—that I—Oh, Wayne!"

Baltimore Livestock

CATTLE—Cattle receipts at the opening of the week were made up chiefly of grass-fed steers, with medium to average-grade predominating. Good steers, although the general market was slow.

Good slaughter steers, with the close of last week, with lower grades selling week to 25c lower. Country buyers aided the disposition of lightweight medium-grade steers in taking a few loads from $13.75-14.20, price range. The top price of the day was $16.00 paid for a load of good steers that averaged around 1,250 pounds, with a few old head $16.50 and two loads at $16.25. The bulk of the good steers within a price spread from $11-14.50, and a few common arrivals downward $11.

Heifers steady to weak, as compared with the close of last week. A few good heifers, $14-15.50. The bulk of the receipts, common and medium grades, $10.50-13.50. Cows 25-50c lower than the close of last week, with the full decline noted on common-grade cows. Common and medium cows, $9-12.25, with a few lots $12.25-13.25. Cows with calves, $6.00-8.50, with shelly canners $5-6.

Bulls steady to weak, as compared with the close of last week. A few good bulls, $12-13.50. Good weights, sausage bulls, $12, with the bulk of the light and medium weights, $9-11.50. Stockers and feeders fairly active, with price unchanged from the close of last week. A few loads of common and medium feeder steers, $10-12.25.

CALVES—Demand for vealers was broad, creating an active market, prices unchanged from the close of last week. Good and choice vealers, $15.50-16.50; common and medium grades, $9.50-14.50, and culls around $7.50; lightweight $5.50. Weights slaughter calves dull. A few good weights slaughter calves, $14. The bulk of the receipts graded common and medium, $10-12.25.

HOGS—Hog receipts light; trading active and ceiling prices prevailed, as compared with the close of last week. Good and choice barrows and gilts scaling from 120 pounds up, $15.30; virtually all sows, $14.25.

SHEEP—Slaughter lambs active and steady with the close of last week. The practically top and popular price, $15.50. Lightly sorted lots of good and choice slaughter lambs, usually from 80 pounds up and including bucks, $15-15.50; common and medium grades, $10.50-13.50, and culls, $7.50. However, the supply to sell at this price was very meager. Slaughter ewes active and steady. Choice lightweight woolled and shorn ewes, $5.50. The bulk of the receipts graded common to good, $2-5, according to grade.

Exhibition Hockey Game At Hershey
Hershey, Pa., Oct. 9 (AP) — The Hershey Bears and the Pittsburgh Hornets, both members of the American Hockey League, will play an exhibition contest at the Hershey sports arena on Saturday prior to the official league opener next Tuesday.

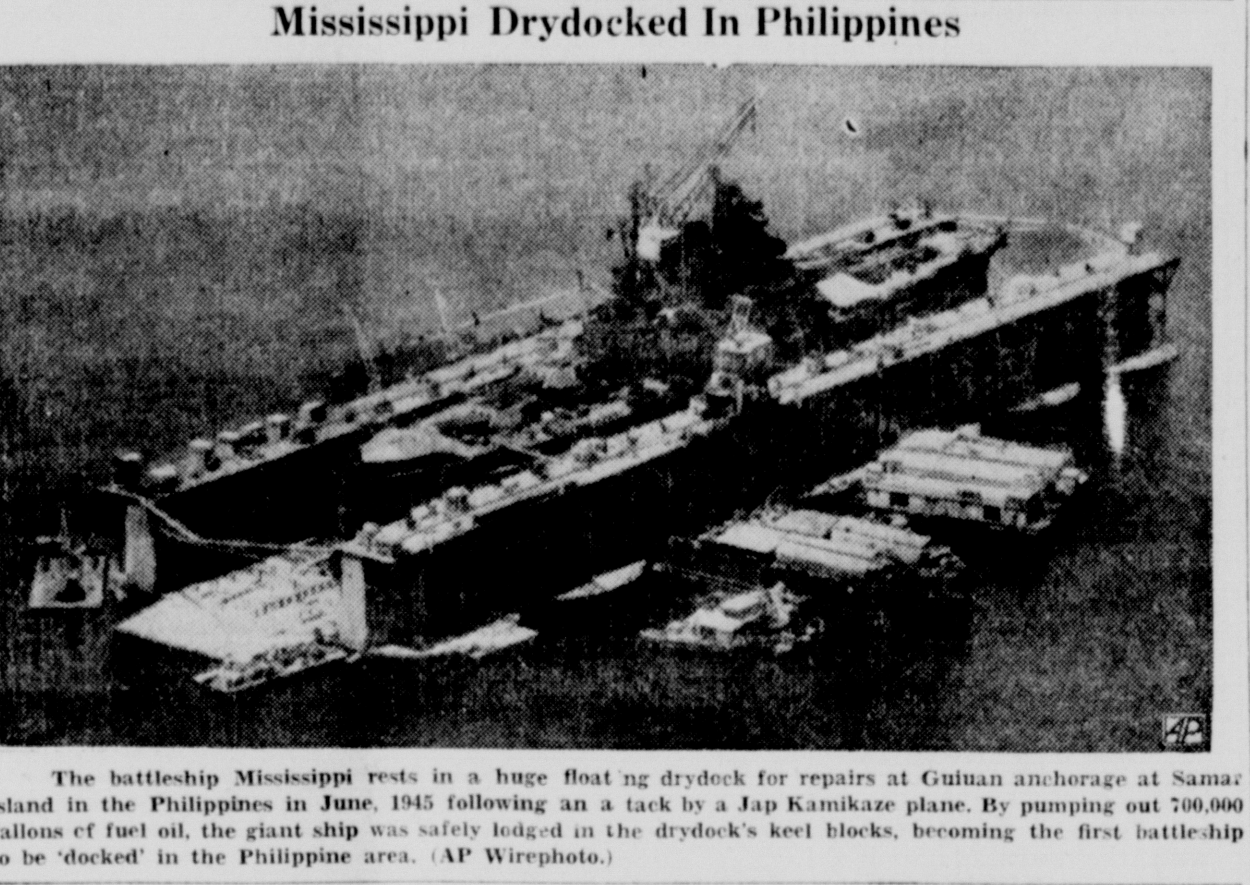

The season gets under way on October 16 when the Bears play the Cleveland Barons at Cleveland. The next night the same teams play at Hershey.

Strikers Jeer Truck Driver

Striking employees of SKF Industries, Inc., of Philadelphia, Pa., jeer a truck driver who goes through a picket line into one of the company's three plants in this area. Office workers reported for work but some 3,000 CIO workers are idle. (AP Wirephoto.)

Mississippi Drydocked In Philippines

The battleship Mississippi rests in a huge floating drydock for repairs at Guluan anchorage at Samar Island in the Philippines in June, 1945 following an attack by a Jap kamikaze plane. By pumping out 700,000 gallons of fuel oil, the giant ship was safely lodged in the drydock's keel blocks, becoming the first battleship to be 'docked' in the Philippine area. (AP Wirephoto.)

Army Units Reaching U. S.

(By The Associated Press)

Nearly 40,000 U. S. troops from the European and Pacific theaters are scheduled to arrive today at ports on the east and west coast aboard 10 troop-carrying vessels.

Three ships, including the Queen Elizabeth, are due at New York with about 23,000 men. Three with nearly 10,000 aboard are due at Newport News. One ship carrying about 2,000 men is due at Boston.

Three vessels are due at Seattle with more than 5,000 Pacific veterans.

Ships and army units arriving:

At New York—(Aboard Queen Elizabeth, from Southampton) 14,856 troops including the major unit of the 70th Infantry Division and 714 WAC's. (Aboard Onida Victory, from Le Havre) 1,954 miscellaneous troops. (Aboard the John Ericsson) 6,180 troops, undesignated units.

At Newport News—(Aboard Elgin Victory) 1,963 miscellaneous personnel. (Aboard Marine Devil) 2,728 troops including Headquarters and Headquarters Co. Command B, of the 8th Armored Division; 400th Armored Field Artillery Battalion; 73rd Armored Field Artillery Battalion; 18th Tank Battalion; 2nd Armored Medical Battalion; 149th Armored Signal Company and miscellaneous personnel. (Aboard Le Jeanne) 4,623 troops including the following units of the 7th Armored Division; Headquarters and Headquarters Company Reserve Command; Headquarters and Headquarters Company G of Command A; Headquarters and Headquarters Battery Division; Headquarters and Headquarters Trains Company and military police platoon.

At Boston—(Aboard Sedalia Victory) 1,955 troops including the 3221st and 3222nd Signal Photo Production detachments; 3243rd Signal Newsreel Detachment; high score personnel and casuals.

At Seattle—(Aboard the C. F. Hughes) 2,000 troops including 400 former prisoners of war. (Aboard the Kola Aogoo) 1,561 troops including some Navy and Coast Guard personnel from Manila. (Aboard G. D. Spurgis) 2,060 troops, undesignated units.

STRIKE TOTAL RISES IN STATE

(By The Associated Press)

The number of persons made idle by strikes in Pennsylvania rose today to somewhere between 75,000 and 78,000.

Coal—Thirteen more mines closed in the supervisory workers strike, bringing miners idle to 57,166. One mine resumed partial operation.

Steel—Shortage of coal further curtailed steel production. Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation furloughed 2,700 to 3,000 employees. More than 12,000 were idle in steel strikes throughout the state.

Produce—APL strikers at the Pittsburgh yards extended their strike to Johnstown and threatened to include other cities from which goods have been shipped to Pittsburgh.

Aluminum—Three new Kensington district plants resumed operations.

Oil—Closing of six refineries in the Oil City, Reno, Rouseville and Franklin sections threatened an oil and gasoline shortage in the area. Some 800 to 900 workers were idle.

CIO POLITICAL UNIT COLLECTS FOR ELECTIONS

By JAMES MARLOW

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—One year ago the CIO Political Action Committee was very much in the headlines. It was a tremendous influence in the presidential election of November, 1944.

Since then you've heard very little of the PAC. But that's because the PAC's work has been less sensational. Since the fall of 1944 it has been doing the spade work necessary for the congressional elections of 1946.

Actually, there are two political action committees. They are the CIO Political Action Committee and the National Citizens Political Action Committee.

The chairman of the CIO Political Action Committee is Sidney Hillman, who was also chairman during the tumultuous period of the 1944 congressional and national elections. No one had any doubt how powerful that influence was.

Collects $1 Fee

The CIO PAC is now trying to collect one dollar each from every CIO member—there were about 5 1/2 million during the war.

The CIO PAC is sending out to its membership pamphlets on the very important issues before Congress—such as increased unemployment pay and increased minimum wages.

It sends its information to the international unions of the CIO. The unions relay this information to their CIO industrial councils—made up of city, county and state groups.

These councils—strictly CIO groups—inform their congressmen of what they think should be voted on in the current session.

Further than that: Groups of these local industrial councils go to Washington to find out what the pitch is on voting, and to make their wishes understood.

Report All Votes

In other words: The members of the CIO unions are kept informed

Three Mines Make New Safety Record

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—The U. S. Bureau of Mines today commended two Indiana and one Armstrong county mines for improved safety records and said two others were having more than their share of accidents.

Those commended were the Commodore mine of the New York Central at Commodore; the Garfield No. 3 mine at the Garfield Fuel company near Robinson, both in Indiana county; and the Kiski Valley No. 3 mine of the Kiski Valley Coal company, Apollo, Armstrong county.

Critical reports were issued for the Red Lands Coal company's No. 9 mine at Alverda, Indiana county, and the Lee Coal company's Widnoon No. 3 mine at Widnoon, Armstrong county. Inspectors said the accident frequency rates at the Alverda mine doubled during the first half of the year. It employs 124 men. The Widnoon mine, employing 94 men, had an "unfavorable safety record," the bureau said in recommending numerous operational precautions.

MEANEST THIEF

Portland, Ore. (AP)—A bride-to-be reported to police a slight hitch in her marriage plans.

Her wedding dress and veil was stolen from a telephone booth, she said.

on the voting records of the various congressmen, whether progressive or reactionary, according to the views of the CIO PAC.

The National Citizens Political Action Committee is not supported by the CIO but by national subscription from various private members who think it's a good idea to belong to such an organization.

The chairman of the executive committee is Elmer A. Benson, former governor of Minnesota. C. B. Baldwin, former government worker, is executive vice chairman.

The NC PAC doesn't work directly with CIO groups. Rather, it works with special groups, such as progressive farm groups and private citizens around the country in an attempt to interest them in congressional issues.
